ED can't arrest after special court takes cognisance: SC

Karsh Anand
The Supreme court on Thursday ruled that the Enforcement Directorate loses the authority to arrest an accused once a special court takes cognisance of a large sum filed under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA).

After the cognisance is taken, ED and other authorities cannot exercise the power of arrest of the accused shown in the complaint.

THE SC BENCH CLARIFIED THAT IF ED WANTS CUSTODY OF AN ACCUSED WHO APPEARS FOLLOWING SUMMONS, IT WILL HAVE TO SEEK PERMISSION OF CUSTODY FROM THE SPECIAL COURT

A charge sheet is called a prosecution complaint under PMLA. The judgment significantly curbs ED's authority to arrest individuals arrested during investigation phase under PMLA, noting that after the court takes cognisance of the complaint, the jurisdiction of the court, rendering the agency "powerless". In such a case, an apprehension that the ED will arrest an accused by exercising powers under Section 19 can be "precluded". The court added it cannot entertain a situation where the filing of the complaint, the accused is not arrested but after the complaint is filed and the person comes in compliance with the summons of the trial court, he is taken into custody and is not arrested by ED during a probe but appears before the special court pursuant to issuance of summons. It is not a bar to the ED's probe, and not a PMIA. The verdict arose from a case questioning whether an accused not arrested during the investigation period under PMLA would be required to meet the stringent bail conditions if they appear before the court after the trial court summons them or issues warrant for their failure to show up, after the special court has taken cognisance of the offence.

Senior advocate Siddhant Luthra represented the accused in the case. Additional solicitor general SV Raju appeared for ED. The court also deliberated on whether the accused could apply for bail under the regular provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC) if they appear pursuant to a summons issued by the special court under PMLA.

The legal questions in the case stemmed from a Punjab and Haryana high court order that denied pre-arrest bail to several arrested in a money laundering case linked to an alleged land scam involving revenue officials. The Supreme Court granted interim protection to the accused in January. In the case, the Supreme Court cancelled the warrants issued against the accused subject to their appearing before the special court and furnishing an undertaking that they will regularly show up during the court proceedings. They were also directed to furnish bonds under CrPC for their appearance before the court. By restricting ED's post-cognisance arrest powers, the judgment sought to address potential situations where an accused, complying with court summons, could be taken into custody and forced into the court, and stringent bail process under PMLA.

MAN GETS 58-YR JAIL TERM FOR RAPING MINOR

Press Trust of India

KOZHIKODE: A Kerala court on Thursday sentenced a 25-year-old man to a cumulative 58 years imprisonment for repeatedly raping a 11-year-old girl back between 2008 and 2021 at her home. The Nadapuram Fast Track Special Court (FTSC) Judge Subin M sentenced the accused to varying durations of punishments for separate offences under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act and the IPC for a total of 58 years. Public Prosecutor Manoj Arora said.

However, as the sentences are to be served concurrently and the maximum jail term given to the man is 20 years, he will serve 20 years in prison, Arora said. The court also imposed a fine of Rs 10 lakh on the convict, the prosecutor said.

The convict was sent to the central prison at Thiruvananthapuram in Malappuram district of the state, he said. According to the prosecutor, the accused made overtures of affection towards the girl and raped her several times between October 2020 to February 2021 when no one was home. The assault came to light after the girl's production in court when she was housed in a children's home in Kozhikode.

Seized cash belongs to Jharkhand minister: ED

Raj Kumar
@raj.kumar1984
The 332.2 crore cash seized from the residence of an alleged associate of Jharkhand minister Alamgir Alam belonged to the lawmaker, the Enforcement Directorate (ED) told special a PMLA court in Ranchi on Thursday, a day after the 70-year-old state parliamentarian was arrested on money laundering charges after two days of questioning.

Alamgir Alam

On May 6, ED launched searches at various locations in Ranchi, including the premises of Alam's personal secretary Sanjeev Kumar Lal and his domestic help Jahangir Alam, and recovered ₹32 crore and ₹3 crore in cash at separate places, all in ₹500 notes. Lal and Jahangir Alam were arrested by the agency the next day, while the minister was arrested on Wednesday.

On Thursday, the federal agency produced the senior Congress leader before a special PMLA court that remanded him in 60-day judicial custody. In its production-and-remand petition, the federal agency alleged that recovery of several official documents on letterheads, which would have been kept under possession of Lal, from the residence of Jahangir establish that Lal was using this premise for keeping documents, records, cash and other belongings related to Alam.

Searches were conducted at different premises of the Sanjeev Kumar Lal, the secretary of minister Alamgir Alam; Jahangir Alam (close associate of Sanjeev Kumar Lal) and other persons; and huge amount of cash to the tune of ₹37.5 crore (approx) was seized, which includes seizure of ₹37.2 from the premise of Jahangir Alam. In the present case, it is ascertained that the said seized cash of ₹32.2 crore, which was found and seized from the Jahangir Alam's residence, pertains to Alamgir Alam and same was collected by Jahangir Alam at the instruction of Sanjeev Kumar Lal who in turn was doing so on behalf of Alamgir Alam, the petition filed by ED stated.

Alam's lawyer AK Kanti said, "My client voluntarily appeared before the ED as soon as a summons was issued to him. There is no evidence against him so far...He should not have been arrested as he extended his full cooperation in the probe."

The money laundering investigation pertains to alleged irregularities in the state's rural development department and purported corruption involving contractors appointed for the implementation of government schemes during the regime of the state's former rural development minister Veerendra Kumar Ram, who was arrested in February 2023 for amassing ₹100 crore in wealth.

State Congress president Rajesh Thakur said, "The arrest was uncalled for and an attempt to tarnish his image during election time as the minister was cooperating in the investigation. If he had any ill motive he could have avoided appearing before the ED after the first summons. The matter is in people's court. Justice shall be ensured."

BENGALURU: A 20-year-old college student was found dead at her Bengaluru home on Thursday with her throat slit and lacerations on her hands, police officers familiar with the matter said.

The woman was a second-year undergraduate student at a private university and lived with her mother and brother. The woman's mother said that she returned to her house on

POLICE SAID THAT THEY ALSO FOUND INJURIES ON THE HANDS OF THE WOMAN, WHO WAS A SECOND YEAR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT

Thursday evening after stepping out and found the front door locked. She entered the

which was open, and found her daughter dead in the wash-room.

The student was found dead with stab wounds to her hand and neck. We are investigating to determine whether it was murder or suicide. We have registered a case based on the mother's complaint," Lokesh Jalagadgi, deputy commissioner of police (DCP) Bengaluru South division, said.

Police officers familiar with the matter said they also found three notes from the woman's residence in which she addressed to her mother. The woman's family, however, rejected the suicide angle.

"We have registered a case under the Unnatural Death Report (UDR) and conducted an autopsy at Kempe Gowda Institute of Medical Sciences. We are probing from all angles and awaiting the autopsy report to determine the exact cause of death," a police officer familiar with the probe said on condition of anonymity.
